

GOLDBUG EDITOR OF OREGON DEAD

Harvey W. Scott Succumbs in Baltimore.

WAS NATIVE OF ILLINOIS

Thirty Years a Leader on the Western Coast.

After a struggle for education, he went to Portland, where he became employed on the Oregonian and stayed until the paper became a part of his remarkable individuality—State follows his lead.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 7.—A dispatch from Baltimore says that Harvey W. Scott, for thirty years editor of the Portland Oregonian, died this afternoon of heart failure, following an operation yesterday at Johns Hopkins Hospital for enlargement of the prostate glands. Mr. Scott was one of the most influential newspaper men on the Pacific Coast. He built up the Oregonian from a small paper, and did much to develop Oregon and advance Portland to its position as the chief city of the State.

He was born in Tazewell County, Ill., on February 3, 1838. He was reared on a farm and then worked at various occupations, finally moving to Oregon in 1862. When he first landed in Oregon he joined a militia company and went Indian hunting all through the Puget Sound country.

Wins a Hard Struggle. He put himself through a severe schooling, doing manual labor for his expenses when he went to the regular schools and studying hard at everything, particularly the English classics, when he was not in school.

Nearly fifty years ago he went to work on the Portland Oregonian. The paper then was small and of little importance. When Col. Scott died he was the principal owner and editor and the directing force.

Col. Scott was a large man, with broad shoulders, and was known over the West as a "fighting editor" of the old "personal journalism" type. At the same time he kept his paper abreast of the times. In 1896, when the West was more or less enthusiastic for free silver, Col. Scott stuck to the gold standard, in spite of advice to the contrary. The Oregonian lost subscribers by its attitude, but Col. Scott wouldn't budge.

State Follows His Lead. Oregon was the only Pacific Coast State that went solidly for gold in that fight. Col. Scott was always a Republican, with a leaning toward a lower tariff. Some of his political friends, particularly that with Senator Mitchell, are historic in the Western country.

Col. Scott, with his wife and son, L. M. Scott, and his personal physician, Dr. H. M. Read, of Seattle, arrived in Baltimore a week ago Monday for the operation on Col. Scott. It was not believed that the operation would be a serious one, and the family had made plans to go on from Baltimore to Atlantic City for a stay of several weeks.

OHIO POLICE BAFFLED.

Unable to Explain Murder at Cleveland of Lawyer Rice.

Cleveland, Aug. 7.—The murder on Friday night of William L. Rice, millionaire attorney and clubman, is still a mystery. To-night, after working two days and running down many near-leads, the police are baffled. They have no results. The theory that Rice was murdered by business enemies was exploded early to-night.

The widow of the murdered man and her four daughters arrived from their summer home in Massachusetts at noon. The theory of murder by footpads is the only one left. But there was no robbery. An envelope filled with bills was left untouched in Rice's inner pocket. His trousers pockets were filled with silver, and he wore a watch and jewelry.

MUM AS TO CRIPPEN.

Inspector Dew Said to Be Planning Quiet Return.

Buffalo, Aug. 7.—Inspector Dew, of Scotland Yard, had a late supper here last night and motored back to Niagara Falls with a couple of English friends early this morning from the Ironworks. He refused to talk about the Crispin case other than to say he expected to be in charge of Crispin and the Le Neve girl on the trip back to England.

One of Inspector Dew's English friends said that Dew expected to "put over a hot one" on the newspaper men in the way of getting out of the country unobserved. He also declared that the inspector had told him that the English police had Crispin as good as convicted. It is Dew's opinion that the trial will be over and the doctor waiting sentence inside of two months.

MAY ELECT CALEB POWERS.

Noted Kentuckian Has Chance to Be Congressman.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 7.—Unless the Democrats of the Eleventh Congressional district, the stronghold of the Republican party in Kentucky, can elect their Representative this fall, the probability now is that Caleb Powers, who was tried three times for complicity in the murder of Gov. Goebel on the streets of Frankfort, January 30, 1900, will be the next Representative from the Eleventh.

Since the meeting of the State central Republican committee in Louisville Powers and his cohorts seemed to have had the best of the campaign over D. C. Edwards, present Representative from the Eleventh, and will probably receive the nomination.

INFANT PARALYSIS CLAIMS ANOTHER

Virginia Boy Passes Away at Georgetown Hospital.

Infant paralysis added another victim to the swiftly growing list Saturday night, when Joseph Pagan, four years old, of McLean, Va., died at Georgetown Hospital.

The child was brought to the hospital at 5 o'clock suffering pitifully. The doctors made a desperate fight for his life, but he became unconscious before an hour had passed and died at 9:25 o'clock.

Little Joseph is the third of his family to be stricken by the ghastly malady in the last six weeks.

A younger sister and a brother a year older survived, but are helplessly paralyzed in the lower limbs. Joseph grew worse alarmingly after the first two or three days.

Rushed to Hospital.

The family doctor ordered that he be rushed to a hospital Saturday night as a last resort.

Had he reached the hospital a few hours earlier he would probably have been saved. Stimulants were used repeatedly during the battle for the baby's life, but one convulsion followed another until death stilled the little form.

The body was taken to Philadelphia, the former home of the Pagan family, for funeral and interment yesterday. The Pagan family are prosperous farmers of McLean.

HAYES' BIRTHPLACE BURNS.

Fire Destroys Old Home of Nineteenth President.

Delaware, Ohio, Aug. 7.—The birthplace of Rutherford B. Hayes, nineteenth President of the United States, was destroyed by fire in East Williams street, this city, to-day. The building was two-story brick, one hundred years old, and the property of W. C. Diven, candy manufacturer. The blaze was caused by a defective flue.

SHOT BY BROTHER WALKING IN SLEEP

Mistaken for Burglar in His Own Home.

Albany, Ga., Aug. 7.—Junius Lund, the sixteen-year-old son of a well-known merchant of this place, was shot and killed by his elder brother, Ivey Lund, at 3 a. m.

Junius, in a fit of somnambulism, arose from his bed and was walking on the veranda of his father's home. He was seen by a woman who lives next door to the Lunds. She thought young Lund was a burglar and began to scream.

Her cries aroused Ivey Lund. He sprang from bed, seized his gun, and rushed to the veranda. There he saw his brother walking, and thinking him a burglar, shot him dead. As the gun flashed Ivey Lund saw it was his brother and fell in a faint.

TRAIN SMASHES AUTO.

Four Killed and Many Injured Near Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 7.—While going over the Southern Railway crossing at Ninth street and Sixth avenue in Bessemer, a suburb of Birmingham, this afternoon, an excursion automobile which operated between Bessemer and West Lake, a summer resort, was dashed into by the Selma passenger train and four persons were killed outright, one fatally hurt, two seriously hurt, and four others more or less injured.

J. N. Roden was driving the machine, and he evidently did not hear the approaching train. He and Miss Keiser, aged seventeen, were both dead when reached.

Miss Crenshaw, Miss Fitzpatrick, daughter of the president of the board of education of Bessemer, and Robert Black were picked up in a dangerous condition, badly maimed. Miss Crenshaw, the sister of the other young woman, and Vernon Lee had broken limbs, while three children and another man were more or less injured. The automobile was dragged 40 yards and smashed to pieces before the passenger train could be stopped.

Black and Miss Fitzpatrick died at 10 p. m.

WOULD-BE RIOTERS ARRESTED

Shout of "Death to Spain" from a Window of the Separatist Club Causes Civil Guards to Gather in Aid. Occupants of House—Threatened District Strongly Policed.

San Sebastian, Aug. 7.—Aside from the presence of an unusual number of soldiers, priests, and peasants on the streets the town wore its usual Sunday appearance.

People went to church and then laughed and chatted while they strolled in the public squares and parks. In the afternoon there was a tremendous throng at the bull fight, and the last thing that seemed to be on the minds of the spectators was the church dispute. They were apparently interested only in the ordinary amusements of a Spanish holiday.

Over night there was a ripple of excitement, but it came to nothing in the end. It started when the members of the Separatist Club, which is known here as the Basque Center, threw up the windows and shouted at the crowds in the street: "Death to Spain!" Immediately the chattering crowds in the neighboring cafes sprang to their feet, and for a time there was an uproar.

Are Quickly Arrested.

The Civil Guards, who are not easily excited, rushed to the club, broke in the doors, and arrested about 150 of the occupants, including a number of priests. They all continued to shout and sing seditious songs, while a section of the public looked on and cheered the businesslike work of the guard. Thousands spent the night discussing the incident in the streets, but at dawn they slipped away to bed, and the day from that time on was quiet and uneventful.

About 3,000 regular troops occupied strategic points in the more thickly populated sections of the city, while 4,000 more were in reserve in the outskirts. Except when the main portion of them marched to mass this morning, they were not greatly in evidence, although sentries and patrols were scattered.

FLYER IS WRECKED.

Passengers on Pennsylvania Limited Get Shake-up.

Canton, Aug. 7.—The Pennsylvania Road eighteen-hour train, on its way to Chicago, was wrecked at East Tuscarawas street in this city about 2 o'clock this morning, and every one of its six Pullman cars left the track.

Of the many passengers on the train none was seriously hurt. The cause of the wreck is believed to have been a broken brake beam on the engine tender.

PATTERSON MAY QUIT RACE.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 7.—Gov. M. R. Patterson, nominee of the so-called straight Democratic ticket at the November election, may decide to retire from the race.

"I have not said I will not run," says Gov. Patterson, which is taken by some to mean that he will shortly announce his retirement from politics. His ticket for judicial nominations was beaten by nearly 50,000 majority in the primaries last Thursday.

AERO CLUB PRESIDENT RIDICULES WAR PLANES

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 7.—"If airplanes are as sensitive to wind gusts as the Curtiss people led us to believe in the past three days, I will recommend that the only defense needed by war vessels against their air fleets will be electric fans to blow the attacking fleet away."

President W. Linford Smith, of the Pittsburg Aero Club, made this remark this afternoon in criticism of the three-day airship meet ending last night at Brunots Island.

The Gazette-Times, owned by United States Senator Oliver, and the Sunday Press, owned by Col. O. P. Hershman, this morning made somewhat bitter attacks on Aviators Curtis, Baldwin, and Mars, claiming they did not exert themselves to do what was promised at the meet.

President Smith said to-day: "The whole affair was a bitter disappointment. I can not but think that we were making a living at flying. I would have tried a little harder to do some flying here than was done. They told us that the wind was very high up above, and we had to accept their word. Curtiss did not reach here until the morning for flying."

"Shortly after they reached here all seemed to get cold feet. I could not blame any one who paid his money to see flying at Brunots Island for kicking. Yes, every member of the Aero Club tried to get them to go into the air more, but they did not."

Descends on Ladder.

About 5 o'clock yesterday morning Walter Williams and C. T. Lenahan, two of the party, passed by the field where a new house is being built. A search of the cellar was made. Williams saw the open well, and upon looking in discovered a child's garment floating on the water.

Williams obtained a ladder, descended into the well, and brought the body to the surface. A cut was found over the right eye, and a gash on the back of the head.

At the inquest Dr. Harry Nalley stated that injuries were inflicted by the boy's head striking the brick sides of the well as he fell. The body was taken to the home of the parents. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

Holds Life Position.

Mr. Alexander is an employee in the Post-office Department, holding a life position by virtue of an order from President Roosevelt in reward for bravery in defending postal property.

On February 8, 1901, he was stationed at Asheville, N. C. Four masked men entered the office and, covering Alexander with a revolver, demanded the combination to the safe. In an unguarded moment Alexander seized his revolver and shot two of the men, who died in prison a few days later. The other two were lynched by a posse.

TRY TO END STRIKE.

Employers Seek to Engage New Cloakmakers.

New York, Aug. 7.—Attempts are to be made to-morrow to break the strike of the cloakmakers. New men have been secured to man the factories.

There was excitement among the striking cloakmakers and their leaders over the news that arrangements were made to picket all the factories, the pickets being instructed to have due regard to the preliminary injunction against violence or intimidation, issued by Justice Lehman on Saturday. The manufacturers are engaging their own strike-breakers, and will have them protected by the Fidelity Secret Service Bureau. A member of the Cloak, Suit, and Skirt Manufacturers' Association said the manufacturers are getting men from Cleveland, Chicago, and other cities. The striking cloakmakers number 73,000.

FEATHERS RETARD PRESIDENT'S SLEEP

Chief Executive of Chile Has an Experience.

New York, Aug. 7.—The President of the Republic of Chile, with his party, returned from Beverly to-night, where they had paid a visit to President Taft. Through the Chilean charge d'affaires at Washington, Alberto Yoaacham, President Montt to-night expressed himself as delighted with the attention that had been given him and his party, and said that his stay in Boston and his visit to the President had been delightful.

After his first night in an American hotel on his present trip, President Montt spoke to the management of the Plaza about the pillows.

The pillows at the Plaza, after the American custom, are filled with feathers, which, it appears, are much too soft for the Chilean President, and because they were soft somewhat interfered with his sleep, and the sleep of some of the others of his party.

Last night, as soon as the President had dined he lay down for a few minutes, and found that the objectionable pillows had been removed, and specially made pillows had been substituted. These were filled with horse hair.

President Montt sent word to Manager Thompson, of the hotel, thanking him for the courtesy, and Mr. Thompson said that the pillows would be presented to President Montt and his party to take with them on the rest of their trip, since it is likely that they will encounter feather pillows at more than one place.

INSURGENTS GROOM CUMMINS FOR 1912

Serious Conference Is Held in Senator's Office.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 7.—That Senator Albert B. Cummins is the logical candidate for Western insurgency to support for the Presidential nomination in the campaign of 1912 is the settled conviction of his factional constituents, and to the reaching of that consummation all the energies, resources, and enthusiasm his followers can summon will be devoted.

At a conference in Senator Cummins' office, in the Fleming building, participated in by former Lieut. Gov. Warren Garst, Editor A. B. Funk, State Senator James A. Smith, State Binder E. D. Chassell, ex-Senator Frank Maytag, Representative E. H. Hubbard, former Representative George M. Curtis, and several others of similar standing and influence, the situation was exhaustively analyzed and discussed to-day. There were those present who reported that assurances had been received that Wisconsin would stand behind the Iowa candidate as far as Senator La Follette's influence was concerned; that the Wisconsin statesman had no hopes of being able to lead a Presidential nomination himself, and that if he could barely win the desperate fight for a renomination, which is ahead of him, he would be glad to then come to the aid of his colleague and bosom friend.

ASKS TAFT FOR AID.

Washington State Governor Alarmed by Forest Fires.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 7.—Gov. Hay last night wired President Taft as follows: "Timber interests in Montana, Oregon, Idaho, and Washington request that I urge upon you the use of national troops in these four States to co-operate with the forest service in fighting forest fires, where a million dollars in property is burning. The season is unusually dry, and fires are raging in many local places. I endorse this request."

He was arrested after a chase.

CRUSADERS ARRESTED

Chief of Police of Narragansett Blocks the Law.

Plucky Constable Sends for Assistance and Stands Lone Guard Over Roulette Wheels, Which Are Stolen from Him by Walters Trying to Destroy Evidence, and Is Finally Taken Prisoner by the Police.

Narragansett Pier, Aug. 7.—A raid on the quarters of the swell Narragansett Club early this morning, made by five reformers, headed by Constable John G. Cross, was hampered by Chief of Police James D. Caswell.

During the raid the chief blocked the actions of the invaders and later caused the arrest of Constable Cross and George L. Cutting, of Worcester, one of the reformers, on charges of assault. His reason for delaying the raiders at first was that they were acting without warrants. The action of the chief was in direct opposition to an order given him by Assistant Attorney General Harry P. Cross, who directed the chief to go to the assistance of Constable Cross and the members of the raiding party.

Constable Stays at Post.

Constable Cross remained on guard over the gambling implements in the club rooms from 12:15 o'clock this morning until nearly noon, while everything was done to oust him, in order that they might be taken away and hidden. All of these efforts failing, Chief Caswell obtained a warrant for Cross' arrest on a charge of assault, and placed the constable under arrest with his own hands. As those two left the building the gamblers commenced to remove the evidence of gaming, and within fifteen minutes the rooms were as bare as a dance hall floor.

The raid was a complete surprise. When the raiding party pushed by the guards and through the steel doors, the gamblers sent posthaste for Chief Caswell. After his arrival things took on a different aspect.

George L. Cutting, of Worcester, son of Louis Cutting, of Trowbridge road, was one of the raiding party. He was arrested about 3 o'clock this morning on two charges, one of assaulting an officer and another for having a concealed weapon. Ball was furnished to the amount of $500.

Summer Resident Aids.

With Constable Cross were James S. Y. Ivins, of New York, a summer resident at the pier; George L. Cutting, a friend of Mr. Ivins; Constable Samuel Brown, and Constable Tennant. These five met at Wakefield about 11 o'clock Saturday night and went in an automobile to Narragansett Pier. They got out of the machine in front of the Casino, which is nearly across the street from the club-room, and waited until 12:30 o'clock before making the raid.

Constable Tennant and Mr. Ivins went through the outside door of the building first and overpowered the guard maintained at the entrance. The other three went past the guard and upstairs. They were obliged to break down a small door and then found themselves in a foyer. In this place were about twenty colored waiters, hustling about. The raiders pushed through one or two doors which opened from the foyer and found themselves in a sumptuously furnished gambling den. There were about thirty persons in the room, half of them being society women in evening gowns.

Find Gambling in Progress.

For a second the presence of the raiders was not noticed. The three roulette wheels were in operation, one faro layout was being patronized, and a hazard board was a favorite among the women members of the party. For a minute the raiders waited, the gambling going on, and then Constable Cross announced himself, "in the name of the law."

The scene which greeted this announcement was nearly a panic. Women fainted and others became almost hysterical at

BITES HIS RESCUER.

Deserter Attacks Woman in Effort to Escape.

New York, Aug. 7.—Peter Harvey, a recruit at Fort Slocum, deserted yesterday and was picked up in New Rochelle by Sergt. Vorchauer, who took him aboard the ferry-boat for the military reservation. Harvey vaulted the rail and struck the water flat. When he came up there was not much breath left in him and he went down again. He flopped idly in the water, and it looked as though he would surely drown.

Miss Anna Moran, who is staying at the house of Bruce MacRae, the actor, at New Rochelle, was in a rowboat, setting out for Glen Island for a swim. She was in her bathing suit, ready for the water. She dropped in as soon as she saw Harvey going down for the third time.

She grabbed him and did her best to keep his head out of water. Harvey snapped at her. His teeth caught in the sleeve of her bathing suit and ripped it. She shook him free and then he bit her again. Nevertheless, she stuck to him and wouldn't let him go under.

Capt. Michael Whalen, of the launch Nancy, went ashore and got Policeman Scott, who made his night stick handy. Scott and Whalen tried to haul the two aboard the Nancy, but Harvey fought them off. Then Scott cracked him over the head with his stick two or three times. Harvey quieted down and was dragged into the boat.

Miss Moran climbed back into her rowboat and went to Glen Island for her swim.
